Concern

Prab, Inc operates under two divisions: Prab and Hapman. Prab is a leading manufacturer of industrial conveyors and systems for the collection and processing of scrap metal. We have been in business for over 50 years, and there are hundreds of companies using Prab engineered products to automate their industrial metal scrap handling, reduce labor costs, reclaim expensive coolants and maximize their return on scrap metals. Hapman, with world headquarters in Kalamazoo, Michigan; is a global provider of powder and bulk material handling conveyors and equipment. For over 60 years, Hapman has been designing and manufacturing the highest in quality and leading edge technology from its manufacturing facilities in the U.S., Europe and India. Hapman products are found in practically every industry worldwide and are relied upon for improving efficiency, maximizing production and reducing labor costs.
